JAY'S SPECIAL BITES

As you all know, I simply love food. Food of all flavors, colors, shapes, sizes – you name it. During my stay in NYC last month I tried a lot of new things. Here are some of my favorites.

The Rainbow Bagel is a real eye-catcher, I think it's the world's most beautiful bagel ever. The dough is given a splash of neon color and then it is expertly rolled into a ring. Traditionally you top it with cream cheese. Now you can choose from different vegetables. Make it spicy by adding chili flakes. It's absolutely delicious.

The best dish I tasted was Bubble Waffles. They are crispy on the outside and soft on the inside. The waffles are shaped into cones and filled with ice cream of different flavors. Add fruits, cookies, sauces and other sweet things. The possibilities are endless. I got really creative ordering my waffle and even went back for more the next day.

My sweet tooth is legendary – I even had ice cream for lunch! Not just any kind, but a really cool one ☺ It's purple because it is made from purple yams. If you don't know, a yam is something like a colored potato. Not only is it as purple as lavender, it actually tastes a little bit like it. But, don't worry, it is still sweet. It reminded me of a classic vanilla ice cream. This mix of flavors makes it really special. Honestly, you just have to try it!

And the last of my favorites is the Sushidonut. It's a donut made of rice and you can put all sorts of things on it. I chose salmon, avocado and cucumber. And, because I felt adventurous, I added some mango as well. I liked the Sushidonut, it is really colorful and something different.

Do you feel hungry now??? ☺

NEW YORK, WAIT FOR ME!

A

Bright lights, thousands of people, everyone is rushing to get somewhere. Skyscrapers, lots of yellow taxis in the street, the smell of coffee and hotdogs – this is New York. It is the perfect place to make a brand-new start. Nobody cares about your past here, nobody even knows your name. I love New York! I would love to live in New York.

B

5 I shared this dream with my best friend Emma, and when we were 16 we went to see our favorite city for the first time. After a four-hour bus journey, we finally saw Manhattan's skyscrapers in the distance. The buildings got taller and taller and there was more and more traffic and noise. We arrived in Manhattan at about 10 a.m., got off the bus and decided to find a place to stay. The hostel we chose was a little bit dirty but we still liked it
10 because it was close to the coolest places in Manhattan.

We left our bags in our room and went down into the street, found a nice little café and sat down. It was so cool just to sit there, watch all the people passing by and enjoy a delicious lunch. We sat there for a while and said to each other, "Can you believe it? We are actually in New York!"

D

15 In the afternoon we started to do some sightseeing, like all the other tourists. Bad idea! After a long walk to the Empire State Building we took the elevator to the 86th floor. There we found that it was even windier and colder than we had expected. Disappointed, we went back down and decided to grab some street food for dinner. We could choose between hot dogs, pretzels or pizza and many other interesting things to eat. We agreed 20 that the food you can buy on street corners was one of the coolest things about New York. In the evening the weather was better and we decided to go back to the top of the Empire State Building to see New York by night. With all its colorful lights it was so amazing! Then we made our way back to our hostel and went to bed.

We woke up the next morning and wondered where we were. Then we heard the noise of 25 the traffic and remembered that we were in the center of Manhattan. After breakfast we wanted to do a bit more sightseeing. Our plan was to visit the Statue of Liberty. We went to the place where the ferry leaves for Liberty Island. But when we saw hundreds of tourists waiting for the next boat we went shopping instead. So the rest of our day was filled with shopping, taxis, more cafés and fast food. We even took a ride through Central Park in a 30 horse-drawn carriage which was our highlight of the day. In the evening we enjoyed a delicious pizza in a fine Italian restaurant. We both agreed that we did not need too much of the typical tourist program because above all we wanted to feel the atmosphere of this exciting city.

F

The next day – our last day in New York – we first wanted to see the Rockefeller Center.
35 We went to the observation deck and it felt great to look down on the entire city. We took about a thousand pictures and then we set off for some more shopping. Of course we got tired from all the walking, so we did not visit the Museum of Modern Art but decided to take the subway back. The subway is another unique New York experience: It may be noisy and a little bit scary but it is never boring – you meet all kinds of people there, different looks, 40 lifestyles and cultures.

G

In the late afternoon Emma and I returned to our hostel to pack because we had to go back home that evening. We really did not want to leave at all! New York was the best experience ever. It was always alive and I guess that this is why they call it ‘the city that never sleeps’.
On the bus back home, Emma and I promised each other: “When we finish high school, we 45 will go back to New York and live in an apartment together.” Now – four years later – we still have not left our home town. New York, wait for us!

SAM AND LINDSEY'S CHAT ABOUT THEIR TRIP

Sam Miller

Hey Lindsey, we really need to book our hotel for the trip to New York. 12:31

Yes. Let's do that. I could even stay a fortnight if you would like to. 12:32

A hostel?! OK, but a room of our own then. 12:32

And make sure that we don't get a double bed, please. I need my own bed otherwise I can't sleep. >:-(12:33

We are planning to eat out most of the time. But let's have breakfast in the hostel. Could you tell them I'm vegan? 12:33

Oh, no. I don't really want to drive in NYC and you just got your driver's license. 12:34

Maybe the hostel could help us? 12:35

And find out about lockers. I don't want us to lose our money and passports. 12:35

Thanks. And let's meet up next week to talk about the other plans. 12:37

Lindsey Smith

Oh God, I almost forgot about that. Thanks for reminding me. Are we still planning to arrive on May 2nd? 12:31

YES! That works for me!! I remember reading something about a hostel near Central Park. What about that? 12:32

And a bathroom of our own!!! :-)) 12:32

All right. Anything else? 12:33

OK. How do we get to the hostel? Would you like to rent a car or take the subway? 12:34

Our plane arrives in the middle of the night and I definitely don't want to take the subway that late. 12:34

I'll put it into the special request box. 12:35

I'll ask about that as well. I'm getting sooo excited. I'll fill out the online reservation form right away. 12:36
